State Revenue Personnel To Assist Taxpayers At Participating Kroger Stores On April 15

ATLANTA – Georgia Department of Revenue personnel will be available at 14 Kroger locations in the metro Atlanta area on Friday, April 15 to assist last-minute filers with their state personal income tax return.

“We will have personnel at the participating Kroger stores to accept state returns and payments and assist taxpayers with any other state tax related issue,” said Revenue Commissioner Bart L. Graham.

Representatives from the Georgia Department of Revenue and the Internal Revenue Service will be present at all stores between 6 p.m. and midnight to accept taxpayers’ returns and answer tax filing related questions.

State and federal tax representatives will also be present at the North Decatur store between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to assist taxpayers in completing their state and federal returns.

“This is a wonderful opportunity for taxpayers to avoid the long lines at the post office, save on postage and ensure that their returns are received on time,” added Commissioner Graham.

This is the seventh year that DOR and IRS personnel have teamed to provide taxpayer assistance at selected Kroger locations.
